Participation-related discussion lists

Discussion lists allow you to communicate by e-mail (rather than using the world wide web) with other individuals on specific topics of interest. The discussion lists (sometimes called 'listservs') below are all based in 'northern' institutions so discussions tend to be dominated by individuals based in the developed world. This discussions primarily use english. Despite these limitations, the discussions can provide the user with thousands of possible contacts and a diversity of views, experiences and practical support.
