They also help people to identify landmarks, explore the city and discover new destinations. The wayfinding systems are further supported through signs, printed maps and mobile devices. Toronto's 360 Wayfinding Strategy has specific guidance for on-street pedestrian, TTC, parks and trails and cyclist wayfinding systems. These environmental qualities contribute to the enjoyment, care and value of the City's streets and public spaces. Part of their social and economic benefits include supporting opportunities for recreation, leisure and green tourism. Green elements include street trees, plantings, bioswales, permeable materials, and active transportation facilities. (see Chapter 7 on Green Infrastructure).
