New Journalism, American literary movement in the 1960s and â€™70s that pushed the boundaries of traditional journalism and nonfiction writing. The genre combined journalistic research with the techniques of fiction writing in the reporting of stories about real-life events. Some observers praised the New Journalists for writing well-crafted, complex, and compelling stories that revitalized readersâ€™ interest in journalism and the topics covered, as well as inspiring other writers to join the profession. Others, however, worried that the New Journalism was replacing objectivity with a dangerous subjectivity that threatened to undermine the credibility of all journalism.
